

Badge Madness Summer

As we enter the summer term, it's an exciting opportunity to explore the different badges on offer! Make the most of the good weather (hopefully!) and the holiday time, and earn some additional badges for your camp blanket while you're at it.

Interest Badges

For those of you in sections, now is the perfect opportunity to get a head start on your interest badges. Before you leave for the summer, ensure your records are up to date with your unit leader so you know which themes you need to be working on. You could also offer to help plan the following term to ensure you've got all the Unit Meeting Activity minutes and Skills Builders that you need to get your section awards.

Fun Badges

Girlguiding has released a large selection of just for fun badges to celebrate contributions, achievements and holidays. Why not check them out!

Adventure Badges

There are 5 brand new badges per section exploring different adventures. These are:

- Land
- Height
- Water
- Sport
- Snow

Why not explore the different activities available and see what adventures you can take part in this summer.

North West Region Challenge Badges

If you want to explore a specific area, why not check out the different challenge badges available! These are ideal to do within your units, with a group of friends, or on your own at home. North West England Region has lots available including:

- Inspire Your Path Challenge
- Clever Cogs Challenge
- Growth Challenge
- Girl Power (Free badge!!!!)

And more. You can also get involved with The Guiding Vibe to earn the amazing blogger badges!

Other Challenge Badges

There are lots of other challenge badges available. Some of my favourites include:

- Plant defenders (Free badge!!!)
- Around London challenge badge (available from Girlguiding HQ and Pax Lodge)
- World thinking day challenge pack (available from WAGGGS)

With so many badges available, now is the perfect opportunity to have fun and share in the achievements.
